

Kalyani is walking in the hostel hallway, lugging her suitcase behind her and she searches for her new room at the start of a new semester. She sees room number 427 and tries to open the door with her key but the lock doesn't turn. She inspects the key and finds that there's a layer of tape on the key. She pulls it off and it says 428. Confused, she approaches the warden and tells her the key to her room is not working. They send a hostel worker lady up along with her to open the door to her room. Kalyani slows down a little on the way to her room to look at room 428. The lady informs her saying that the room has been locked for a few years ever since a girl died in that room under mysterious circumstances. Kalyani eyes the room wearily before walking into her room and thanking her. She takes her luggage into the room and remembers she still has the key to room 428. By the time she goes out to the room to give it back to the lady only to find that she's long gone. Kalyani shrugs, decides to keep the key with her and return it some other day.

A few days later, Kalyani is rushing out the room with an envelope and full hands and while she's running, the envelope slips out of her hands and slips under the door of room 428. She curses and punches/kicks the floor and she thinks for a while and then remembers she still has the key to the room. She gets the key from her room and opens it (hesitating a bit). She enters the room and finds her envelope in the middle of the room. Slowly, she walks towards it, picks it up and begins walking out. But, she stops, as she feels like someone is watching her from behind. She turns and looks and sees no one so she leaves the room quickly. She locks the room quickly and leaves.

That night, she is working on something on her laptop, when she hears a knock on her door. She gets up and opens the door to see no one there. She looks around and finds no one. Confused, she closes the door and goes back to studying. The next day, she takes her camera and goes to the convention centre to take photographs. While taking photographs, a sketchbook standing against a tree catches her attention. She goes towards it and picks it up and sees the name written on the sketchbook. Ira. goes through the drawings, with a smile on her face. While she's in the process of admiring the pictures, a sudden voice snaps her out of it.

- "Oh my god! My Sketchbook! I thought I lost it"
- Aditi smiles and gives it back to her and she takes it. She says "Sorry I went through the stuff, but they're really good".
- She smiles and says " thanks" she makes a gesture saying whats your name
- "Kalyani", she extends an arm forward, but she doesn't take it, as her hands are full and goes " I'm Ira"
- " Well Ira, nice to meet you" Kalyani says as she takes her hands back, dropping it by her sides.
- "Nice to meet you too. Hope to see you around here!" Ira says that or something similar before she gets up and leaves.
- Kalyani looks at her retreating figure and smiles to herself.

It's night time again, Kalyani is about to go to sleep (or she's doing smthg near the door) when she suddenly hears footsteps and hears someone knock twice on her door. She opens it, there's no one and she closes it and goes back to sleep. Then there could be a montage of them bonding and stuff, but at the end, Ira gets a little pissed at Kalyani. And she walks away a bit bitter (cuz kalyani has other friends). That night, there's knocking on Kalyani's door again. And shes tired of this happening again and again, so she yells out at the door. And when the knocking doesn't stop she gets up, on her way to open the door, but the knocking escalates to banging and suddenly stops. This scares Kalyani. She just stares at the door for a while. She opens the door and sees no one there. She locks her door, double checks and blocks it using her chair. And goes to sleep.

Then a few days later, Kalyani is seen fiddling and playing with a bracelet on her hand. Her friends look at it and compliment it, and they ask her where she bought it from. She smiles and says, a close friend gave it to me. Cut to Kalyani and Ira somewhere, talking and then Ira gives her the bracelet, saying it's something that means a lot to her. And that she'd be happy if Kalyani would take it. Kalyani accepts it and wears it immediately. Ira shows a similar bracelet on her hand. They both put their hands next to each other. She's snapped out of the flashback when her friends ask teasingly if she has better and closer friends than them and Kalyani just rolls her eyes and goes back to work or smthg.

Now, ever since she got that bracelet on, weird and scary stuff has been happening. The water cooler scene happens. Hot coffee falling on her hands. And stuff falling on her? Bad and dangerous stuff. Then again cut to night. The knocking starts again and escalates to banging. Kalyani is scared now. She holds onto the bracelet tightly for support and as soon as she touches the bracelet, the banging stops and the lock begins to turn (only once). Startled, she lets go of the bracelet and gets up, and walks a few steps backwards. The lock stops turning and everything goes silent and still. Kalyani just stares at the door frozen for a while and then just slides down the wall and sits there for a while.

The next day, she goes back to class and her friends ask,

- woah Kalyani, are you doing okay? You look really tired.
- Kalyani exhales and says, yeahh, I haven't gotten much sleep last night.
- Why, what were you doing up so late?
- She looks them up and down, hesitating before saying, I mean I don't really know how to say it..

They urge her to say it

- Ever since I moved to my new room, I've been hearing a lot of knocking on my door? And it's just been keeping me up all night. You know, it's weird

They look at each other before saying

- Kalyani.. You do know why the room beside yours stays locked right?

Kalyani says - Uhh, wasn't it about some girl dying there.

They say - yeah, a girl used to live in the room next to yours, and she used to be best friends with the girl who used to live in your room. They used to hangout every night... Before she got killed in her room, by her best friend.

- Oh... wow that's horrible.
- Mhm, that's why you're probably hearing knocking at night.
- (Somehow they mention Ira's name) It's really sad how she died. She was supposed to get a scholarship and continue her studies abroad. Mann, if Ira was alive now, she'd be a living legend (OR SMTHG LIKE THIS)

Kalyani freezes at the mention of the name Ira and she asks them what they meant by that and asks them to show a picture or smthg of Ira. And they do (on linkedin or some website) and Kalyani's face pales at the sight. She eyes the bracelet sitting on her table warily and understanding dawns on her face.

That evening, they meet somewhere outside and Kalyani and Ira are walking next to each other, and Kalyani says, "Oh, btw, you're always on campus, but I've never seen you in your room". Ira laughs nervously at that. Kalyani continues, "We should hang out in my room tonight. You've never seen it right? It'll be fun.". Kalyani slowly slows down as she's walking and Ira gets ahead of her a little and Kalyani says "You know, you don't scare me. And neither does your knocking." Ira freezes at her spot. She does not turn around.

After a few moments of silence, Ira says, "So you know then",
"For a while now. Yes"
"So you know that you'll die in my hands?" Ira looks back when she says this
"I thought so initially, but as I said. I'm not afraid of you." Kalyani starts walking closer to her,
"You're not brave enough to kill me"
"What makes you say that?"
"I'm not the one who you're angry at" Ira is silent "Why do you not get back at her?"
"I never got the chance. She did the job herself"
Kalyani makes a slight 'o' face. "Oh"
"And now I'm stuck here, chasing to fill the void she left here. A void I know you are not brave enough to fill"
"But you know we would never work out, right? We're two different things(better word???), it would be impossible"
"I know. That's why you are going to join me." Demonic laughter thing
Kalyani step back as Ira walks closer, smiling deviously. As soon as Ira takes another step forward, Kalyani reaches for her bracelet and holds it in front of her. Ira panics as she realises what Kalyani is gonna do and reaches forward but Kalyani breaks the bracelet and Ira disappears.

Kalyani is silent for a while before she hurries and collects all the pieces of the bracelet and holds them in her hand and goes back to her room. She strings them up and hangs them near her desk as a reminder of the good times she shared with her. Could say smthg like, "it's sad it had to end that way" or smthg with a bitter smile on her face.